“OPERATION BEANTOWN”

9th MEMBER OF MANCHESTER CRACK RING SENTENCED ON FEDERAL CRACK COCAINE DISTRIBUTION CHARGES

Re: United States v. Garry Rice

CONCORD, NEW HAMPSHIRE -- United States Attorney Tom Colantuono, N.H. State Police Colonel Gary Sloper, and Manchester Police Chief John Jaskolka announced that Garry RICE, date of birth of April 24, 1980, was sentenced on September 23, 2003 on crack cocaine distribution charges.

The U.S. District Court in Concord imposed a sentence of 35 months of imprisonment, followed by a 3-year period of supervised release during which his behavior will be monitored by the U.S. Department of Probation.

During January, 2003, RICE entered a guilty plea to an information alleging that he distributed cocaine base, also known as “crack cocaine,” in Manchester during August, 2002.

RICE was arrested (along with his brother, Raheem “Ruckus” Rice) by Manchester and New Hampshire State Police officers on October 15, 2002, along with eleven others as part of their joint “Operation Beantown” investigation, so named because of its focus on alleged Boston-based drug traffickers that had relocated to Manchester. Eight others have been sentenced in connection with the investigation, including:

- Raheem “Ruckus” RICE (90 months);
- Michael “Mook” Martin (65 months);
- Antwone “Sticks” Cousins (56 months);
- Taranne “Black” Tillis (46 months);
- Roderick “Shawn” Echols (46 months);

- Maria Miranda (37 months);
- Tarrell Burris (30 months);
- Justin “Styles” Foote (12 months).

U.S. Attorney Colantuono stated, “This case demonstrates our office’s commitment to aggressively prosecuting drug traffickers, including the street-level crack dealers operating in Manchester and New Hampshire’s other larger cities. Operation Beantown is a prime example of the effectiveness of cooperative efforts between federal, state, and local law enforcement agencies in combating the disastrous impact of crack cocaine on our urban neighborhoods and their residents. This office will continue to commit federal resources to these efforts.”

The conviction resulted from a joint investigation conducted by the Manchester Police Department’s Special Investigations Unit and the N.H. State Police Narcotics Investigation Unit.

The prosecution was handled by Assistant United States Attorney Joseph N. Laplante, the Lead Attorney for the District of New Hampshire in the New England Organized Crime Drug Enforcement Task Force (“New England OCDETF”).
